Chapter 1

OVERVIEW

1.1. Concept of Operations. Installation Airman and Family Readiness Centers, herein referred to as “Centers,” provide programs and services to assist commanders in identifying, assessing, and minimizing personal and family related challenges to maintain unit cohesion and strengthening operational readiness. Center services enable development and sustainment of resilient, ready Airmen, Guardians and their families.

1.1.1. Centers provide consultation to senior leadership and commanders in support of the development and execution of policies, programs and processes to enhance individual, family and community readiness, resilience and quality of life.

1.1.2. Centers serve DoD servicemembers, DoD civilian employees, retirees, and eligible family members (see definition for family members in Attachment 1). Centers will collaborate with co-located AFR and ANG personnel to ensure family members are prepared for activation, mobilization, deployment, transition, and reintegration demands and responsibilities. (T-1).

1.1.3. Centers should provide required services to the extent possible to military personnel assigned to deployed contingency locations and remote sites. Contingency and remote sites should coordinate support with RegAF and Space Force installation Centers.

1.2. RegAF and Space Force Installations. At RegAF and Space Force installations, Airman and Family Readiness services are delivered at Centers. RegAF or Space Force commanders will provide support to co-located Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard (ANG) commanders (tenant units), and designated geographically separated units (GSUs), as necessary, to ensure availability and delivery of services. (T-1). RegAF and Space Force installation Centers provide support in conjunction with Air Reserve Component (ARC) Airman and Family Readiness (A&FR) offices during unit training assembly.

1.3. Centers at Joint Bases.

1.3.1. At joint bases where AF is the lead Service (supporting component), the Center coordinates with the supported Service(s) to ensure program information is disseminated to joint base populations and that program delivery is in accordance with local joint base agreements (e.g., via memorandum of agreement or memorandum of understanding).

1.3.2. At locations where the AF is not the lead Service (supported component), the AF provides resources and capabilities for Department of the Air Force (DAF)-specific programs through coordination with the supporting Service. DAF-specific programs are the Key Spouse Program, Heart Link, Casualty Affairs, Survivor Benefit Program, Air Force Families Forever, and Air Force Aid Society (AFAS). AFAS support will be in accordance with AFI 36-3111, Air Force Aid Society.

1.4. Training. Center staff are authorized to attend national level training events for professional development contingent upon approval by installation-appointed travel approving officials and in compliance with current DAF training attendance rules.

1.5. ARC units.

1.5.1. Non co-located AFR host installations and ANG units do not have Centers. Airman and Family Readiness services are normally provided or coordinated through an Airman and Family Readiness Program Office.

1.5.2. At AFR stand-alone installations, A&FR staff administer the programs in Chapter 3 of this DAFI to the extent they are capable of providing, either in-office or through off-base referrals, due to limited staffing.

1.5.2.1. At AFR locations, the A&FR staff position is aligned under the Force Support Squadron (FSS) Commander to meet local workload requirements and functional capability.

1.5.2.2. A&FR staff may refer members to the nearest RegAF or Space Force installation or collaborate with local agencies, other military services, and other non-federal entities to enhance the quality of life initiatives during steady state and contingency operations.

1.5.3. At ANG locations, the A&FR staff is aligned no lower than the FSS Commander or Director to meet local workload requirements and functional capability. Units may designate the supervision to the Mission Support Group or wing commander level. The A&FR staff may collaborate with the State Joint Force Headquarters, local agencies, other military services, and other service delivery agencies to enhance the quality of life initiatives during steady state and contingency operations.

This consists of core programs in the following areas: deployment planning and support; personal financial readiness skills; personal and work life skills development; relocation assistance; employment assistance; volunteer resources; exceptional family member support; transition assistance; wounded, ill and injured support services; long-term support to survivors; AFAS; and support to the community before, during and after disaster, crisis, and or evacuation situations as appropriate within Center purview. Additional services may be directed by AF/A1S as mission changes dictate.

3.1.1. Centers will engage in partnerships with unit leadership to:

All Center staff members will utilize this system for data gathering, record keeping, and information management. (T-1).

3.4.2. Joint Bases. At installations where the AF is the supporting component, AFFIRST is the approved data collection system. At joint base installations where another service is the lead and the AF is the supported component, that service dictates the method or system for documenting activities. 4.2.3.2. Give priority to survivors for support by Center staff if a scheduling conflict arises. (T-3).

4.2.3.3. Track surviving family members in AFFIRST. (T-1). If survivor was not assigned to the Center by AFPC, the Center will validate the survivor's relationship to the deceased member in coordination with the Casualty Assistance Representative (to validate deceased member's information, if necessary) and with official documentation of eligible relationships (e.g., birth certificate to validate mother relationship). (T-3).

4.2.3.4. Work with commanders to provide information on surviving family members of Airmen and Guardians who died within the commander's unit (at squadron, group, delta, and wing/garrison levels), regardless of where the survivors reside, and encourage inclusion of surviving family members in unit events. (T-3).

4.2.3.5. On a quarterly basis, provide installation commanders with information on surviving family members who are connected with the Center and encourage inclusion of surviving family members in base events (e.g., squadron, group, delta, and wing/garrison levels). (T-3). Quarterly reports to installation commanders should include the following: name of survivor, survivor's contact information, name of fallen member, survivor's relationship to member, member's date of death, member's unit at time of death, and if survivor has opted out of communication.

4.2.3.6. Upon the death of a member, perform initial targeted outreach and engagement with survivors as defined by AFPC/DPFF. (T-1). Outreach should show compassion and be personalized and tailored to the survivor.

4.2.3.7. Upon conclusion of initial outreach and engagement defined in paragraph 4.2.3.6, conduct outreach with survivors at least quarterly. (T-1). Outreach is defined as any form of communication (email, text, phone call, etc.) for any reason (newsletter, counseling, event, etc.) with the survivor.

4.2.3.8. Complete warm connection by losing Center to gaining Center if survivor moves. (T-3). Warm connection includes introducing the survivor and providing pertinent information to the gaining Center.

4.2.4. Survivor Continuum of Care.

4.2.4.1. Centers shall closely partner with the Casualty Assistance Representative and Mortuary Affairs officer working with their assigned survivors to ensure quality continuum of care as the survivor transitions into long-term support. (T-1).

4.2.4.2. Centers shall work with the Casualty Assistance Representative to conduct a warm connection as casualty services close out and the survivor completely transitions to long-term support. (T-1).

4.2.5. Installation Access.

4.2.5.1. Centers will assist surviving family members in obtaining an electronic Perimeter Access Control System card for installation access, if desired by the survivor. (T-3). Centers will collect the information required for issuance of an electronic Perimeter Access Control System card from the surviving family member and transmit the information in secure electronic format to the installation's entry and access control activity (e.g., Visitor Control Center). (T-3). Centers or the Air Force Families Forever point of contact do not retain information needed to obtain an electronic Perimeter Access Control System card.

4.2.5.3. Centers will assist sister Service survivors who do not have an installation access card from the owning service and are seeking installation access to an Air Force or Space Force installation. (T-1). Centers will work with the nearest respective sister service representative (e.g., Survivor Outreach Services representative for the Army) or AFPC/DPFF. (T-1).

4.2.6. Surviving family members may be provided designated parking at the installation commander's discretion.

Airman (Airmen)—As used in this instruction, the term Airman or Airmen refers to military members of the RegAF, AFR, and ANG. The term does not include DoD civilian employees of the RegAF, AFR or ANG. Civilian employees are identified specifically in this instruction when Center services are available to them. Additionally, uniformed members of the Space Force are referenced separately.

Air Reserve Component (ARC)—ARC includes reference to both AFR and ANG.

Community Readiness Service Delivery—Designed to enhance community readiness and resiliency through personal preparedness via strength-based, results-focused service delivery. Center staff members partner with leadership and the community to promote the successful adaptation of Airmen and their families to the demands of military life.

Core Compliance Expert (CCE)—Individuals assigned as a CCE must acquire and maintain the knowledge required to deal with the more complex issues of that area of compliance. (T-3). A CCE may be assigned more than one area of responsibility. The CCE will maintain an in-depth knowledge of their core compliance subject area, obtaining certifications as applicable, ensuring current information and on-the-job-training is provided to Center staff members. (T-3). The CCE will ensure their core compliance subject area is continually prepared for compliance inspections, or other higher headquarters inspections. (T-3).

DoD Personnel and Families—This includes all military members, all Services and Guard and Reserve, military retirees, DoD civilians (including nonappropriated Air Force personnel) and their eligible immediate family members who possess a current government-issued identification card.

Other Uniformed Services include members of the United States Coast Guard, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, uniformed State Department personnel, Public Health Service personnel.

Family Life Cycle—Predictable pattern of development and change as the individual and family matures and evolves over time.

Family Members—Includes those individuals for whom the military member (RegAF, Space Force, AFR, ANG, and retired) provides medical, financial, and logistical (e.g., housing, food, clothing) support. This includes, but is not limited to, the spouse, children under the age of 19, children under the age of 23 if enrolled in college, disabled children, and elderly adults who meet eligibility requirements. Centers also provide various types of support to annuitants and parents of single members.

Guardians—Guardians refer to uniformed members of the Space Force. The term does not include DoD civilian employees of the Space Force. Civilian employees are identified specifically in this instruction when Center services are available to them.

GUIDANCE FOR AIR FORCE VOLUNTEER EXCELLENCE AWARD (VEA)

A2.1. Award Description. The VEA was established to recognize federal civilian employees, family members, military retirees and federal retirees who perform outstanding volunteer community service of a sustained, direct, and consequential nature.

A2.2. Award Eligibility. Authorized by the Chief of Staff of the Air Force (CSAF), for federal civilian employees, family members, military retirees, and federal retirees who perform outstanding volunteer community service. To be eligible, an individual's service has to be performed either in the local civilian community or in the military family community, and be of a sustained and direct nature. The volunteer service should be significant in character, produce tangible results and reflect favorably on the DAF. To be awarded the VEA, supervisors nominate eligible persons in the form of a memorandum or by the voluntary agency for which they donated their service. Approval authorities verify the service to be honored merits the special recognition afforded by this award. The VEA is intended to recognize exceptional long-term community support and not a single act or achievement. Further, it is intended to honor direct support of community activities. As an example, attending membership meetings or social events of a community service group would not normally be considered qualifying service, while manning a community crisis action phone line would. The volunteer service may have been donated over time at another military installation or in a local civilian community (for example, long term service as a Family Services volunteer, youth scout leader, etc.). Eligibility for the award is based on the volunteer performing services on a voluntary basis, not as part of a tasking, and does not result in any personal gain. This award may not be reflected in personnel records or earn promotion credit for federal employees selected to receive this award. The VEA may be awarded posthumously and when so awarded, may be presented to such representatives of the deceased as deemed appropriate by the commander.

A2.3. Selection Board. Award of the VEA is authorized by the DAF on behalf of the CSAF. This authority is delegated to wing-level commanders. It is at the commander's discretion to convene a board or establish another review process to screen and select award winners; however, the commander retains final award approval. The approving authority certifies that the individual meets all eligibility criteria and that service was honorable throughout the award period. Individuals may receive only one award of the VEA in a lifetime.

A2.4. Writing the Nomination. The nomination format is determined by the installation commander. As a suggestion, nominations should be limited to one page (front only) with direct, fact-filled, results-oriented descriptive statements or bullets. The nomination should emphasize the benefits realized by the volunteer service and include qualifying factors that are out of the ordinary. Some suggestions for consideration are: leadership and management, scope of responsibility, innovative and creative ideas, community involvement, initiative, and reliability. Nominators identify the timeframe of the accomplishment.

A2.5. Award Period. While commanders may choose the option of a semi-annual or annual award period, all nominations should be submitted in time to be reviewed so awards can be presented during National Volunteer Week.
